

When Jackie Armour of Jupiter, Florida-based JMA Interior Design begins a project, she likes to start with selecting a room's textiles and then develops the color palette for the furnishings based on the print's hues. Armour has an incredible talent for using and mixing colors, prints and patterns to create fresh, bold and exciting interiors. She thinks vibrantly painted walls and graphic custom-made window treatments not only give a room a colorful punch, but also serve to frame and draw attention to a home's real artwork—the vistas and views offered by its windows.

Window Treatment Fabric:
Hama by Harlequin

Photo: Carmel Brantley,
Brantley Photography